Homage to Gandhi

What do you really need?
For Gandhi it was the dirt floor,
the bowl for food, the eyeglasses,
the staff,
the verses from the Bhagavad-Gita
imprinted on the brain, the countless visitors.

The skill of enduring dust,
long hot train journeys third class, conversations conversations conversations

prayer, silence

. . . and a wry, patient joy in seeing you and I
let fall
whatever cords
bind heart
and mind
and will.

--Andrew Moss, 2010